

Guide to Module 1: Introduction to the CCGHR Principles

Guide editor

Katrina Plamondon
Faculty of Health & Social Development, School of Nursing,
University of British Columbia-Okanagan, and Regional Practice Leader, Research & Knowledge Translation
Interior Health, Canada

Summary

The CCGHR Principles of global health research have been presented as a resource in the CCGHR website for the last several years. Here, under the Resource library tab you will find a 1-page summary, companion document, an introductory youtube video, with the corresponding publication. There are also French translations of the summary and companion document, as well as a Spanish translation of the companion document.

The principles were introduced during the first BCCI in September 2017, and again in August 2019 at BCCI-2.

The current module includes two updated resources:

- An updated video introduction soon to be available*
- Recent publication: The CCGHR Principles for Global Health Research: Centering equity in research, knowledge translation, and practice by Katrina M. Plamondon, Elija Bisung

Please send any comments and suggestions about this module to Katrina at katrina.plamondon@ubc.ca